Germans Reinforced--Fight Desperately to Save Their Center

ALLIES STEADILY DRIVING GERMANS ON RETREAT LINE

Pushed Invaders Back 12 to 15 Miles Today---British Firing Is Deadly---Paris Sees Deliverance in Turn of Tide and Rejoices

FRENCH SOLDIERS AND PACK WAGONS RESTING AFTER FIGHT NEAR PARIS

Here are the French troops who have fought night and day for weeks and they are almost worn out by the continued assault of the superior numbers of Germans. This photograph shows them taking a short rest after a battle in which they had to give more ground to the on-rushing Germans. Within a short time these wagons filled with food will be backed up behind the strong fortifications of Paris and the soldiers will begin to make their last stand to save Paris and the republic.

PARIS, Sept. 11.—The right wing of the German army in northeastern France was driven back twelve to fifteen miles today, according to the Bordeaux war office dispatch at 3:30 o'clock. The allies' offensive movement continues. Four days of uninterrupted fighting were involved in the pushing back of the German fight.

The first phase of the battle of the Marne is very favorable to the allies, the Germans retreating on the right and center. Commanded by the German crown prince and Prince of Wurtemberg, the Germans attacking the French on the Marne near Vitry have been unable to advance. The situation is completely changed. The Germans have made no advance since September 6th. The enemy under Generals Von Kluck and Von Buelow have fought furiously but vainly to break the French center north of Soissons and Vitry.

PARIS is overjoyed at the favorable news. The announcement that the allies' center is holding and the wings advancing is hailed as an assurance that Paris is saved. It is generally believed the Germans must speedily withdraw from France or be overwhelmed.

The war office statement concluded: "The Franco-British advance continues with dogged persistence and the allies' offensive operations are mostly effective. The British marksmanship is deadly."

Germans Use Siege Guns
The fighting between the allies and the German center east of Paris approached the critical stage today. The struggle was the severest along the line from Vitry through Genicourt to Verdun. The German center, heavily reinforced, put up a desperate battle. It is rumored that British troops will be sent to aid the French there. Meantime General French continued to drive the Kaiser's right wing northward. War experts are agreed that the allies' operations in this quarter would be completely successful and the Germans cleared from northeastern France, if the French could break the German center. General Gallieni stated that the Germans are bringing forward their caterpillar siege guns to increase the deadliness of their fire.

Germans Quitting Belgium
GHENT (via Ostend), Sept. 11.—The Germans are withdrawing all their forces from Northern Belgium to strengthen their forces in France. Their soldiers operating in this region have started southward. The Belgians immediately assumed the offensive and are harassing the rear of the German corps in the Audenarde-Courtrai-Renaix district. Heavy losses are reported from both sides. The lines of German communication are endangered. News of an Anglo-German raid on them is momentarily expected.

British Fight With Belgians
ANTWERP, Sept. 11.—The indications were that the Germans are evacuating Western Belgium today, according to the war office. They have already gone out of the region between Antwerp and Ghent. Fighting is progressing at Aerschot and is favorable to the Belgians. It is expected Brussels will soon be cleared of the Germans. The British are co-operating in attacks on the German cavalry near Ostend.

French in Mulhausen
BASEL, Switzerland, Sept. 11.—The French are reported to have re-occupied Mulhausen.

Official Returns on Congressional Races
SACRAMENTO, Sept. 11.—Official returns on the third, fourth and fifth congressional districts have been compiled by the secretary of state. The third district, comprising Napa, Yolo, Sacramento, Solano, Contra Costa and San Joaquin counties gives: Charles F. Curry, Republican, 25,722; Charles F. Curry, Democrat, 86,722; Charles F. Curry, Progressive, 112,049; Henry Ross, Socialist, 1816; Edwin P. Van Vear, Prohibitionist, 546.

Fourth district, part of San Francisco county: Julius Kahn, Republican, 22,418; Progressive, Julius Kahn, 50,977; Henry Colombat, 24,977; Democratic, Henry Colombat, 6,273.

Fifth district, part of San Francisco county: Republican, John I. Nolan, 15,054; John R. Jones, 7,305; Progressive, John I. Nolan, 8,636; Democratic, John I. Nolan, 7,933; Clarence A. Henning, 3,176.

GRASPS ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY TO BOOST SANTA ANA
That Secretary Metzgar overlooks no opportunity to help advertise Santa Ana was made plain again today when he mailed two Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce pennants to a box upon the back of a patient burro owned by W. J. and H. W. Sherid, who arrived in front of the city hall shortly after the noon hour today from Phoenix, Arizona.

The two Sherid boys have been 34 days coming to Santa Ana. They are on their way to their home in Medford, Oregon. They are making the entire trip on foot. What personal effects they have are carried on the back of the burro.

In passing, it might be mentioned that, upon discovering that the long-suffering pack animal had no name, Metzgar immediately christened it "Santa Ana." Thus will the City of Resources receive much valuable publicity between here and the Oregon city.

The pedestrians from Phoenix stated that they make from ten to fifteen miles daily. They had been in Arizona for about seven years.

Fatal Duel Over War Policy
PARIS, Sept. 11.—The Turkish Crown Prince and Enver Pasha, the war minister, quarreled over the Turkish war policy. A duel ensued, according to a Havas news dispatch. One account was that the Crown Prince was slightly wounded and that Enver Pasha was wounded and died later.

Belgian's Protest Body
NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The Belgian commission which is to protest against German atrocities arrived here today.

Count de Lechtvelde, the secretary, denied that Belgian civilians had been ordered to resist the Germans. He declared that if the Kaiser had informed President Wilson that he was forced to take extreme measures because the civilians opposed him, he lied. "No other words express it," he said.

Defender of Liege Tells of Tragic Shattering of Forts
ANTWERP (via The Hague), Sept. 11.—A letter written to King Albert of Belgium by General Lemen, the intrepid defender of the forts at Liege, and who is now a prisoner of Germany, told of the last stand at that fateful spot. The letter said: "Your majesty will learn with grief that Fort Loncin has been blown up, and that most of the garrison was

Berlin Hears Situation Improves in East Prussia—Germans Said on Offensive

BERLIN (via The Hague), Sept. 11.—It is admitted that the German right wing in France has retired before the superior force of the allies, but elsewhere along the battle line it is insisted that the Germans continue successful.

The situation in the east is reported as improved. The Russians, it is reported, were routed in the Lake Mauer region, and that elsewhere in that territory the Germans are taking the offensive. The German troops are reported to be retreating. Vienna has reported the Muscovite attack on Przemyśl as repulsed. Reports that the Russian army of invasion in Silesia will attack the Vistula fortifications are characterized as "absurd."

Russian Defeat Announced
BERLIN (via Amsterdam), Sept. 11.—A notable German defeat of the Russians in East Prussia was announced this afternoon. The invaders' left flank was reported as completely crushed, and the Russians as being in full retreat. The war office said this victory opened the way for Germany to attack the Czar's main army in Russian Poland defied along the line to Warsaw. If possible the Germans will flank the Russians, who have withdrawn troops to reinforce the Galician force where the Austrians have resumed the offensive.

Russians Are Retiring
PETROGRAD, Sept. 11.—It is admitted that the Russians in East Prussia are retreating to new defenses, opposing a large German force from the west. The Germans include several army corps recently withdrawn from the fighting in France.

Belgian's Protest Body
NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The Belgian commission which is to protest against German atrocities arrived here today.

Count de Lechtvelde, the secretary, denied that Belgian civilians had been ordered to resist the Germans. He declared that if the Kaiser had informed President Wilson that he was forced to take extreme measures because the civilians opposed him, he lied. "No other words express it," he said.

TURKEY ABROGATES TREATIES AS TO RIGHTS OF FOREIGNERS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Turkey formally notified the United States and the nations of the world yesterday that she had abrogated the series of conventions, treaties and privileges, originating as early as the eleventh century, whereby foreigners in the Ottoman empire have been exempt from local jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases. Foreign subjects no longer will enjoy what is known as extra-territorial rights, through which they have been tried by their own judges, diplomatic representatives or consuls.

This practice, abolished by Japan several years ago, through the negotiation of new treaties, Turkey has removed by a stroke of the pen. Her purpose, it is declared, is to assert her independence and free herself from the domination of the great powers.

Effect on Missions
Upon the rights revoked has rested the legal status of American mission aries in Turkey, permitting them to maintain churches, hospitals and schools in religious freedom.

The removal of every kind of privileges enjoyed by the powers in excess of what the general principles of international law allow is the meaning of this step. A Russian Bey, Turkish ambassador to the United States, said last night: "This war is Turkey's opportunity."

ENEMY PUSHED BACK 37 MILES BY ALLIES IN 4-DAYS BATTLE

PARIS, Sept. 11.—The following official communication was issued last night: On the left wing the British and French troops have crossed the Marne between La Ferte-Sous-Journe, Charly and Chateau Thierry, pursuing the enemy, who is in retreat.

During the course of this advance the British forces took a number of prisoners and captured machine guns. In the four days' battle, up to Thursday night, the allied armies have in that section of the theater of operations, gained more than thirty-seven miles.

Between Chateau Thierry and Vitry-Le-Francois the Prussian guard was thrown back.

FRENCH AND BELGIAN AIRMEN SEEK TO END KAISER'S CAREER

BERLIN (via The Hague), Sept. 11.—That an attempt was made by French and Belgian aviators to kill the Kaiser and the German general staff by dropping deadly bombs on their quarters at Luxembourg was admitted today. The airman located the emperor's apartments in the German legation, whence he was directed the campaign, and hurled four bombs, missing the building. The legation is now heavily guarded, searchlights have been mounted and German aviators are ready to repel similar attacks. Emperor William is in personal charge of field operations. He communicates with the front by field telegraph stations and occasionally makes automobile trips to the German advance positions. He has not yet visited the firing line.

DEFENDER OF LIEGE TELLS OF TRAGIC SHATTERING OF FORTS

ANTWERP (via The Hague), Sept. 11.—A letter written to King Albert of Belgium by General Lemen, the intrepid defender of the forts at Liege, and who is now a prisoner of Germany, told of the last stand at that fateful spot. The letter said: "Your majesty will learn with grief that Fort Loncin has been blown up, and that most of the garrison was buried in the ruins. That I myself was saved was due to the fact that I was drawn from the ruins while suffocating. I am now a prisoner and am physically shattered by the terrible explosion. I surrendered neither the forts nor the town. I ask pardon for the fire which destroyed the forts. I would willingly have given my life to have better served my country and my king."

KAISER'S MEN ARE IN FULL RETREAT

British and French Pursue Vigorously—Disorder Shows in German Ranks

LONDON, Sept. 11.—"The German retreat is general," was announced by the war office tonight. "The British and French forces in northern France are pursuing them vigorously."

"The enemy is retreating most rapidly east of Soissons, where there are evidences of disorder. Considerable bodies of Germans are found hiding in the woods unable to keep up with the main body. They surrendered on sight. The plight of these men and the rifling of villages are evidences of drunkenness. There is demoralization in the ranks of the routed enemy. The pursuit will be continued."

The war office in announcing that the German retreat continues, stated that the British had captured 1500 prisoners and numerous guns.

Rush Army Increase
The war office is rushing preparations today and raising rapidly the additional 500,000 troops authorized by parliament. The law-makers' action followed Premier Asquith's appeal for the further strengthening of the country's military establishment. The additions will bring the British troops to the highest figure in history.

Balkan Alliance
BUCHAREST, Sept. 11.—Roumania, Bulgaria and Greece have formed an alliance for united action against Turkey if the latter joins Germany and Austria.

Austrian Torpedo Boat Lost
TRIESTE (via Rome), Sept. 11.—That an Austrian torpedo boat was blown up by a mine off Fasana, was announced today. Most of the crew were saved.

"GET-TOGETHER" CONVENTION HELD

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Sept. 11.—Many officers of the Young Men's Christian Association of New Jersey came here today for the "get-together" convention at the Metropolitan Hotel. The sessions will last until Sunday.

"Togetherness" is the aim of the convention. A. H. Whitford, general secretary of the Buffalo Association, the Rev. Howard Agnew Johnston of Stamford, Conn., and Albert E. Roberts, representing the rural work of the international committee, are scheduled to deliver addresses.

PEACE IS CRY IN AUSTRIA TODAY

Anti-German Feeling Increases —Germans Denounced for Lack of War Aid

1,500,000 RUSSIANS ARE SAID TO BE IN GALICIA

Servians Win Semlin in Most Bloody Battle of Austro-Servian War

VIENNA (via Rome), Sept. 11.—"Peace" is the almost universal demand today. The anti-German feeling is increasing. The government is bitterly criticised for permitting the Germans to allow Austria to face Russia alone, while Germany is invading France with Austria being crushed as a consequence of such action.

The railroads are admittedly unable to transport the wounded from the front. All accounts have told of the bravery of the Austrians, but they were heavily outnumbered. One and one-half million Russians are estimated to be in Galicia. The presence at the front of Archdukes Charles Francis and Francis Frederick indicated the government's realization of the fact that another Russian victory may force Austria to ask peace terms.

Servians Take Semlin
NISH, Serbia, Sept. 11.—The Servians, under Crown Prince Alexander, today occupied Semlin, Hungary, repulsing the Austrians in the bloodiest battle of the Austro-Servian war.

The capture was made at the point of the bayonet. Three thousand Austrians were killed or taken prisoners. The rest retreated in a panic. The Austrians lost enormously.

It is announced that forces of Montenegrins and Servians from Ushitza who had effected a junction between Foch and Vishegrad, and were invading the Austrian province of Bosnia, are approaching Sarajevo, the capital. The Austrians are numerically weak.

Russians Shell Konigsberg
PETROGRAD, Sept. 11.—Two German army corps are reported to be enroute in an attempt to relieve Konigsberg which the Russians are now bombarding.

FINAL RETURNS ON LOS ANGELES VOTE

Analysis of Figures Shows Johnson Fared Better Than Fredericks

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.—Final official returns on the primary election, which became available yesterday with the completion of the canvass by the board of supervisors, give John D. Fredericks, Republican candidate for governor, a vote in Los Angeles city and county of 32,559 and Hiram W. Johnson 29,234, a Fredericks plurality of 3325, in votes cast by Republicans, Democrats and Progressives.

An analysis of the vote for gubernatorial candidates, particularly Fredericks and Johnson, is interesting and is providing political managers with material from which, according to their leanings, they are endeavoring to extract comfort. Fredericks received 31,532 Republican votes, 511 Progressive and 516 Democratic. Johnson received 3106 Republican votes, 24,878 Progressive and 1250 Democratic. Hence, Johnson, a Progressive, fared better from the Republican party than Fredericks, a Republican, did from the Progressives.

OPERA HOUSE DOES NOT GO INTO MOVIES

Manager McCulloch Declines to Entertain the Picture Proposal

The Grand Opera House is going to stay out of the moving picture business, and thereby Santa Ana will be visited by a good many excellent road shows. Yesterday Manager William McCulloch had a proposal from a moving picture man to lease the theater for a moving picture show-house. McCulloch took the view that if the Grand Opera House should be turned into a movie, Santa Ana would have no place to which traveling shows could be billed, and he declined to consider the proposition.

Santa Ana will get more and better shows this season than ever before. McCulloch says that many of the theaters in the smaller cities of the state have gone to the movies, and that for that reason the theaters that are free to take shows stand a better chance of getting the best that are going.

Nat Goodwin is going to show in Santa Ana for the first time. The season will be opened on October 1 with "Two Many Cooks," and Nat Goodwin will be here on October 8. "A Husband's Wife" is scheduled for October 10.

"Adele," one of the prettiest productions put on in Santa Ana, is to be back again, November 30 being the date that is down in Manager McCulloch's book. Among other shows that are coming are "The Lonesome Pine," "Nearly Married," "Old Kentucky," "Broadway James."

MOOSE MEET
NEXT SUNDAY

Deck's Stags will tie up Sunday with the Los Angeles Tigers who were here some time ago and smeared the locals with a 6 to 5 score. That Deck's athletes are determined not to allow the Angel City felines to repeat this performance goes without saying. Also, judging from the class of pill mangers that Deck has on his team at present it is quite likely that the invaders will have quite some tough time of it.

Buster Callan, who is doing the mis-sile-receiving for the Stags, is making good with a vengeance. Along with the rest of the Moose gang he had small chance to let himself out against the Torrance crowd last Sunday—it wasn't necessary. Nevertheless, out of five times at bat he garnered one run, two singles and pilfered two sacks. Not so bad.

Schultz, the terrible Teuton, and Leake, also, did considerable damage.

If the three keep up their present lick they will put Deck's bunch right up amongst the first of Southern California emsl-pro teams.

Schultz was up five times, captured a run, three base wallops and flied two hassocks. Leake, out of four times up, got two runs, two singles and three stolen bags.

SAGE TEA DANDY
TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea Recipe are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful—all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Advertisement.

WHO IS THE BEST
MIDDLEWEIGHT?

Ring Question Still Open to Lively Debate.

REAL GLASS TO GLABBY.

George Chip Still a Strong Contender Despite McCoy Setback—California Fans Touting Billy Murray as a Second Ketchel—McGoorty Showing Up Well.

Who has the proper claim to the title of middleweight champion? This is a question that has been under discussion since the tragic death of Stanley Ketchel, the unbeaten champion, but the prospects for an early decision are much clearer today than they have been for some time. Eddie McGoorty's reversal of form over in Australia, in which he scored a lightning win over the clever Dave Smith, has tended to clear up the middleweight horizon, since it has eliminated the foreigners from further consideration.

Despite the contention of many managers, who have kept the question an open one for business purposes, it has resolved itself into a proposition in which it may be said that only five men have withstood the "acid test" and are today legitimate claimants of the coveted honors.

Jimmy Clabby, the San Francisco whirlwind, Eddie McGoorty, the Wisconsin wizard and conqueror of Klaus and Smith; George Chip, the fast fighting Pittsburgh wonder, and Mike Gibbons, the St. Paul stamper—all of these men, along with Jack Dillon, who, because of his extra weight, has since graduated out of the class with Billy Murray, the latest find of the coast fans, who scored a knockout of Leo Houck, are to be taken under consideration when the question of the legitimate claimant to the middleweight is decided. The first three may be said to have a clearer claim to the title than the last two named, but to avoid any dispute that may arise the last two are taken into consideration. Al McCoy, who knocked out George Chip in the first round, is not considered at all as a championship possibility. If they met again the chances are that Chip would put him out in less than three rounds.

From San Francisco the wires are kept warm by the dispatches exploiting the marvelous achievements of both Clabby and Murray. These two fighters are being proclaimed by the fans of the coast as the classiest pair that have made their appearance since the good old days of Ketchel, Thomas and Papke.

Clabby, although several pounds under weight for his class, has, nevertheless, taken on the toughest boys in the business without a whimper, with the result that he has endeared himself to the fans to such an extent that he is the popular idol. Not only this, but he has by his successful and persistent good fighting heaped up sufficient evidence to give himself more than a clear claim for the premier honors.

His win over Eddie McGoorty in Butte, Mont., is only one of the number of great battles that he has fought in his struggle to reach the top of the heap.

Billy Murray, his brother Californian, is a fighter of the aggressive, hard hitting type that is so uncommon to the fighting game at the present day. His win over Leo Houck, the tricky, heady and hard hitting fighter, earned for him a place among the topnotchers.

Many experts on the coast pick this youngster as a coming champ; in fact, a number have gone so far as to call him a second Ketchel. Probably this is because of his great resemblance to Stanley when he squares off in the ring. The same aggressiveness that we all admired so much in Ketchel stands out all over this boy.

SQUIBLETS
HOMER RUMNE

Your pessimistic friend will growl that romance is gone from the world. He'll tell you that the glamour of thrills and sentiment has vanished in this day of modern hurry and "molling in the mill." He's wrong. There's just as much romance as there was in "the days of old when knights were bold."

In my opinion one of the main reasons for the popularity of motor racing is the atmosphere of romance that surrounds it. That the sport is popular and growing in popularity no one will deny. Just make the announcement that a big, long-distance speed duel is going to be pulled off and you will find everybody on pins and needles until the day of the race.

In the first place, there's the element of danger to the drivers and their mechanics. That great majority of the public interested in motor racing enjoys seeing an automobile race for its own sake. The biggest proportion of people go to see the speed duels out of a spirit of true sportsmanship and not because they expect to see one or more of the racing men killed or maimed. But no matter how true a sportsman a man may be he would be foolish to lose sight of the fact that driving a racing car is a dangerous business.

Were the danger of automobile racing entirely eliminated, I am quite sure that the pastime would prove just as attractive for the public. There are a thousand and one things that increase the glamour. Long before the cars are sent away on their long grinds there is the atmosphere of tense excitement and expectancy in the air.

The exhausts of the racing cars roaring defiance and challenge; the drivers and mechanics going over their cars, testing every part; the smell of gasoline and oil; the dust; these and hundreds of other details go to make up an atmosphere which is as truly romantic and full of thrills as any which people found hundreds of years ago.

There are already many evidences that the coming races at Corona will draw one of the biggest crowds which ever assembled in Southern California to witness a road contest. From what I have heard in Santa Ana I have reason to believe that the number of Santa Ana and Orange county motorists who will go to Corona Thanksgiving Day will be far greater than last year.

It has been noticed that since his store was busted into last Monday Victor Walker has been regarding Doc Patton with an unfriendly eye. It has also been noticed that Doc bears up exceedingly well under the sullen and scathing glances of Walker, so the horrible suspicion that arises over the circumstance immediately vanishes into thin air.

Music and Medicine

A reporter asked an opera manager one day if he believed in the new therapeutic idea that music was a medicine. "Believe in it? Of course I do," the impresario replied. "I know at least three operas that are a drug on the market. While as for popular songs there isn't one of them that doesn't make me ill."

UNCLE SAM GOING TO AID BEET GROWERS IN FIGHTING PESTS AND MEETING TRAUBLE

Los Angeles Times: The Department of Agriculture, as the result of recent research work in the sugar beet fields of Southern California, is about to establish permanent headquarters in Los Angeles. Offices will probably be opened early next spring. The local headquarters will be in charge of E. C. Rittue, who is connected with the branch of the department in Washington that is devoted to sugar beet investigation and who has made extensive investigations here on behalf of the government.

There are several important problems to be solved for local growers. The plan is to have the government bureau, the sugar factories and the growers work to a large extent in conjunction and to arrange for conferences to discuss the difficulties that confront the producers of sugar beets. There are 90,000 acres of sugar beets in Southern California. Mr. Rittue believes that the average can be profitably increased to 150,000 under reasonably favorable conditions. The depression following the tariff reduction has been at least temporarily offset by the increased prices consequent upon war conditions. Factories that were considering closing down will be continued and the production this year will be about normal. Most growers believe that the future of the industry in Southern California and elsewhere in the United States depends on a modification of the tariff laws. With normal conditions resumed, they say, prices will go down again and production will not be profitable. In an effort to secure tariff modification the growers in some of the beet districts have begun to secure and tabulate statistics to demonstrate the necessity for protection for a valuable industry. One of the serious problems now to be met in Southern California and which Mr. Rittue has been working on, is a method by which the nematode can be destroyed. This is a microscopic worm that eats the small roots. The beet, attacked by such worms, at once begins to throw out new roots to replace the ones destroyed and in

ORGANIZED LABOR IS LINING UP FOR GOVERNOR JOHNSON

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—Startling with the formation of a big Johnson-Eshleman Labor Club, organized labor in San Francisco and throughout California is lining up in a solid column for the re-election of Governor Hiram W. Johnson and four years more of the Johnson administration. Headquarters in the heart of the city have been opened by the Johnson-Eshleman Labor Club and every labor leader of the city is either a member of the board of officers and executive committee or is personally represented there. Branches of the San Francisco club are to be established in many other cities of the state.

The club is non-partisan, and its stimulus lies in the recognition by organized labor of the fact that the Johnson administration is the only administration that has done real, genuine work for the relief and betterment of conditions for working people.

Officers of the club are: John P. McLaughlin, president; John A. O'Connell, secretary; B. B. Rosenthal, treasurer; P. H. McCarthy, Paul Schramberg, Andrew J. Gallagher, John O. Walsh, Edward F. Bryant, Miss Sarah Hagan, Mrs. L. G. Walden, vice presidents; M. F. Doyle, sergeant-at-arms.

For Relief of California Oil Operators

(From Los Angeles Financial News.)

An emergency bill, already passed by the Senate, for the relief of locators in California oil and gas fields pending an official investigation of dispute claims, has passed the House. The bill authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to make a working arrangement whereby claimants may go on with the production and sale of oil from the public domain until a necessary leasing law can be passed.

Under the provisions of the bill the Secretary of the Interior is to allow all operators who claim patents to their lands to proceed with production pending settlement of their patents. During such time the Government will retain one-eighth royalty of the oil produced, and those whose patents are finally perfected will be refunded the royalties. An amendment to the bill, agreed upon by the House Public Lands Committee and the Navy Department, was included in the measure. This amendment provides that all royalties collected from the naval reserve lands shall be put into a special fund at the disposal of Congress.

As the bill has passed the Senate, it only remains for the amendment to be accepted by the conferees for the legislation to become law. This will be speedily done and the Kern and Fresno oil business, which has been at a standstill soon can be resumed. Another Church bill, providing permanent settlement of the oil lands litigation, which has passed the Senate, is now on the House calendar.

In connection with passage of this bill the following review of the litigation and the causes which brought it about will be of interest. It was prepared for the Anglo and London-Paris National Bank of San Francisco:

"For the past year or two much uncertainty has existed with regard to the titles to some of our oil lands by reason of suits brought by the United States Government or others for the expulsion of persons operating oil wells on land which had belonged, and as was claimed did belong, to the public domain. These suits were of several classes. The first and, considering the areas and values involved, the most important were suits to quiet the title in favor of the Government to lands containing productive oil wells on land granted and patented to the Southern Pacific Railroad company. The Government sought to recover these lands by reason of a reservation in the patents, which it claimed had been expressly accepted by the railroad company, reserving all lands subsequently found to contain mineral other than coal or iron. As to this, the Supreme Court of the United States has held that the reservation in the patents, being without authority of law, was void, and that no acceptance by the railroad company could give it validity. Any other decision would have unsettled the titles to every foot of land ever granted by Congress to anybody and patented under that reservation, for no one can know what minerals may some time be found on any of these lands. There have been patented to land grant roads over $2,000,000 acres. The titles can now only be attacked directly by the Government, and this only by alleging fraud, which must be done within six years from date of patent, or, as has been claimed but not decided, from date of discovery of fraud.

The Court held that petroleum is a mineral within the meaning of the land laws.

Validity Locations Denied
A second class of cases is that in which is denied the validity of oil locations made after September 27, 1909, when President Taft withdrew from all fora of location and entry some 3,941,000 acres of land in California, and 170,000 acres in Wyoming, supposed to contain petroleum. The authority of the President to make the withdrawal being disputed, locations continued until July 2, 1910, when the lands were withdrawn under authority of an act of Congress. There were probably some locations made even after the passage of that law, but probably no money has been risked in developing such locations. Money, however, has been spent freely in development of locations made between the executive and legislative withdrawals, great quantities of oil having been extracted, and it is said that there is at stake in this class of cases values approximating $30,000,000 of actual improvements, owned by not less than 130 companies, with a probable aggregate of 5000 stockholders. This does not include the value of the oil. The four suits of this class brought in this State concerned about thirty companies, large and small.

The first suit was dismissed by Judge Dooling of the United States District Court on the ground that the President's withdrawal was without authority of law and void. The others are not yet decided. A similar suit brought in Wyoming was dismissed by Judge Riner of the United States District Court for the same reason. The Government appealed and the case is now before the Supreme Court.

Cases Where Fraud Is Alleged
The third class of cases includes those which allege fraud in locations not yet patented, but upon some of which there has been heavy investment in development and from which great quantities of oil are being taken. It is claimed by the oil men that fraud, within the meaning of ordinary speech, in these locations has been exceedingly rare, if it has existed in any case. What the Government alleges as fraud is claimed to be merely technical errors in efforts under the advice of different legal counsel to apply a law enacted with reference to mining the precious metals to petroleum locations in respect to which the physical conditions are entirely different. While the limit of location is twenty acres, which is sufficient for gold mining in which the cost of the necessary "discovery" is usually small, it is wholly insufficient for a petroleum location in which exploration leading to a possible discovery may, and usually does, run into many tens of thousands of dollars.

What Law Contemplates
The law contemplates that 160 acres may, even during exploration, pass into single ownership, and it is claimed that that is all that any one has attempted. And such a law is necessary to induce the exploration of new territory. What the Government calls fraud is in all known cases claimed to be merely irregularities, either in ignorance or under advice of counsel, in the methods employed to accomplish an entirely lawful purpose. Both this and the second class of suits affect only the public domain open to location and entry, and in reality are confined to the Midway and Maricopa fields, with a few cases in Coalinga. No two of these cases are exactly alike, and it is considered a hardship that the locators, many of them of small means, should be compelled to defend their titles against the power of a Government if there is no allegation of anything but errors, which, in fact, were made in good faith for the accomplishment of lawful and useful purposes.

that way expends all its energies in replacing roots instead of forming sugar-bearing fiber.

Mr. Rittue finds about 2000 acres badly affected with nematoda in Southern California. So far nothing has been discovered to effectively combat it. Mr. Rittue believes something can be accomplished by rotation of crops and by summer fallow. The latter method, however, is not likely to be favored in California, in his opinion because farmers here are loath to permit their ground to lie idle for long periods.

Other enemies of the beets are leaf spot and curly top, the latter caused by the puncture of the leaves by a small fly. It will be an important part of the new bureau's work to conduct researches and endeavor to find means to combat the beet enemies.

Because of the shortage of seed supply from Germany and other European beet-growing countries the price of seed has gone up recently from 8 1/2 cents per pound to 50 and 55 cents. Under ordinary conditions seed is imported because it cannot be profitably grown here at less than 20 cents a pound.

At the prevailing price, however, a yield of $500 an acre might be expected, and a movement is already on foot to grow seed in California on an extensive scale. Unless there is a considerable supply of local seed the shortage may cause prices to go even higher.

Meat On Toast
A satisfactory method of utilizing pieces of meat remaining from a meal is the making of mince for toast. For this you should chop the cold meat very fine and put it in a stewpan with a small lump of butter and enough water to more than cover, says the St. Louis Star. After boiling about fifteen minutes stir in a well-beaten egg and season with salt and pepper. When this is poured over carefully toasted bread and served piping hot it makes a most delicious breakfast dish.

ANAHEIM KIDNAPPER BALKED BY FIRE SIREN

Pretty Little Anaheim Girl Was Dropped by Abductor Just Outside City

ANAHEIM, Sept. 11.—Incessant blasts from this city's fire siren early yesterday evening frustrated a kidnapper and saved a beautiful eleven-year-old girl. The child, Mabel Schmidt, daughter of Frank Schmidt, was set free, unhurt, by the kidnapper one mile outside the city limits. She was returned in an automobile to her hysterical parents by City Trustee William Stark.

The little girl was stolen from in front of her home at 6:45 o'clock by a man riding a red bicycle. According to the story told by the child and several other children with whom she was playing, the man swung her to the handlebars of his wheel, clapped his hand over her mouth, and sped away. Quick work on the part of the police is held responsible for his abandonment of the attempt to make away with the girl. The fire whistle was blown, the telephone wires were put to work, and all ranchers and surrounding towns were notified. In less than fifteen minutes more than 100 automobiles had been requisitioned and a wholesale man-hunt begun. It is believed that the child abductor became frightened at the noise of the fire siren.

The police were of the opinion last night that the man was still in Anaheim. They advanced the theory that, after putting down the little girl, he returned to the city by a detour. A thorough search of the rooming houses and saloons was started. If the man should be captured the authorities planned to spirit him away to some nearby town for safekeeping. Residents of Anaheim were greatly wrought up over the attempted assault. A seven-year-old girl, Thelma Sherwood, was brutally assaulted three days ago, and Chas. E. Caughtman is under arrest, charged with attacking her.

GARDEN GROVE ARE TO PLANT AVENUE WITH SPECIAL PICK

Tree Planting Along Roadsides is Matter of Much Interest

GARDEN GROVE, Sept. 11.—A good many people of this section have been interested in the county forestry work, and more especially in the prospect of having Garden Grove roads planted with roadside trees. The matter has been up for discussion several times. H. A. Lake, manager of a lumber yard, is a member of the tree planting committee of the Associated Chambers of Commerce. Recently while attending a meeting of the county forestry board he said that many of the Garden Grove people would like to have a tree selected for planting the Garden Grove road yard. The tree is shapely and much resembles some of the cedars.

Knapp said that he thought a splendid avenue could be made by setting two varieties alternatively. Stephenson said that in a few days County Forester J. M. Grant would go to Garden Grove and go over the proposition. He will go over the road, examine the soil and talk to some of the citizens about the project.

MULES ARE FOUND IN LOS ANGELES

Fullerton Tribune: Harry Wright, a deputy in the office of Sheriff Hammet at Los Angeles, is given credit by J. C. Sheppard and J. M. Clever for the quick recovery of their property which was made away with by the party who was known as Henry Davis during his brief residence in Fullerton. After scouring the country between here and Los Angeles in a search on their own account, and making the round of horse markets in the city, they were advised to see Wright and finally reported the matter to him. He had a description of Sheppard's mules which had already been spotted by him as probably stolen property, and knew at once where to find them.

Davis had sold the outfit the next day after leaving Fullerton to a Los Angeles horse dealer named Hickey, on the plea that one of the mules had gone lame on him and he was unable for this reason to continue his journey with the team. The mules were returned to Mr. Sheppard by Hickey, who is out the sum of $200 paid for them as a bargain price. Clever also recovered his wagon, and R. Cruzon the dishes and bedding taken from his house by his departing tenants. These were left in storage at Hickey's place by Davis, who gave a different name, however, to Hickey when selling the property to him.

It was learned by examination of other goods left there by the man that he has about as many different names as there are places for him to have been in his travels, and evidently he is not in the habit of staying in one town very long at a time. H. Hoffman and D. A. Harris are names signed to bills of sale for other property in the same hand as the signatures used by him here and with Hickey.

P. Delgado, who knew the man while he was at Fullerton, says he saw Davis and his wife at Anaheim Monday of this week. They were on one of the Taylor autos bound toward Santa Ana. Officer Wright is on their trail and says he intends to find them and put them in a place prepared for that kind of people, and he thinks they will stay a long time.

Davis is without question a smooth article. He told a simple story of having come here from Oregon to live and rented a small house in which he and his wife were located, claiming that he intended to buy property later after becoming familiar with local conditions. His appearance was that of an industrious laboring man, and he had no difficulty in securing the team of mules and wagon which he had hired and was supposed to be using in honest work until owners of the property discovered that he had been missing with it for several days.

Oil Engines in Canal Trade

(From Los Angeles Financial News.)

In view of the coming to Los Angeles harbor at an early date of two vessels similar to the Siam, which recently called at this port, propelled by oil engines it might be remarked that the country that has done more than any other in the development of engines of this character has no oil wells. Speaking of the use of oil engines for marine purposes the New York Commercial says:

"Heavy petroleum oils have acquired added value through the development of the explosion engine for marine purposes, but this country, which is the greatest producer of such oil and which, in addition, can draw upon Mexico for supplies, lags behind in the use of such means of propulsion. Denmark has no oil wells yet it seems to be taking a greater interest in this means of supplying power for ocean going vessels than do the United States and other countries which have abundant supplies of oil. A Danish steamship company which is active in the East Indian trade is now building a number of such vessels of considerable tonnage. Its management is assured of success according to reports recently made by them, because vessels of this class have been subjected to thorough tests during the past five years and have met every requirement.

"Steamships plying through the Red Sea and other tropical waters are handicapped by the intense heat which exhausts the stokers and compels the employment of very large numbers of them. Somewhat similar conditions will be met when the Panama Canal is put in operation and our coastwise traffic through that waterway seems to afford a splendid opening for the oil engine. The experience of the Danish and Dutch vessel owners with such ships in the eastern seas warrants the belief that they would be well suited for Panama Canal traffic. Oil in abundance is available on both sides of the Isthmus. The Texas and Mexican oil fields produce an abundance of fuel oil and the large output of the California oil wells is almost exclusively of that character. If such vessels can be operated in other parts of the world successfully, they would have the additional advantage of cheaper and more abundant supplies of oil in the Panama Canal trade. This would also be true of that part of the trade which would be transacted with South American ports on the Pacific Coast, along which oil fields of great importance have recently been discovered."

TIGER BALL CLUB TO PLAY SUNDAY UNDER NEW NAME

The name of the Los Angeles Tigers baseball club has been changed to that of the Universal Film Company club. Why the change was made is not known. However, this is of small interest to local ball fans. Of more moment to the bleacherites is the news that although the Tigers have changed their name that will not interfere with their coming here Sunday to do battle with Deck's Stags. A letter to Deck from C. S. Richardson, the Los Angeles man who arranges the Southern California semi-pro schedules, says that the Universal Film athletes will be here without fail. The lineup and batting order for both clubs follows:

Richardson's letter further states that Umpire Jurgens promises to be here without fail.

GEOGRAPHY AND THE WAR

About the only way most people learn geography is by traveling, or through being interested in a war. As the majority of people travel little, and wars are exceptional, most people know little about geography. The comments one hears on the war in Europe show surprising ignorance, considering that everyone has studied the subject in school.

It is rather remarkable that the old fashioned schools did give so much attention to geography. The "Three R's" were distinctly practical. People studied "Reading, Riting and Rithmetic" because otherwise they could not engage in business or earn a living.

But it is perfectly possible to earn a good living, and be useful, popular, or successful, and yet to know practically nothing about geography. Here, for once, the Little Red-School-House looked at life in a broad light. It taught geography, not as a money earning study, but merely for its value in wider intelligence.

Geography is easy enough to learn, but hard to remember. It is a string of unrelated facts, bound together by no ties of logic, and drops out of sight in the mind like a pebble in the ocean. Was there one person in a hundred who, previous to the recent fogging, could have located the Vosges mountains? Or was there one in a hundred who could have placed correctly the city of Louvain, now destined for a fiery immortality?

Geography is a broadening study, and it ought to be taught so that people will remember more about it. Mere lists of names of rivers, mountains, cities, are as elusive as the morning dew. If its main facts can somehow be connected with a human interest feature they may stick longer in the mind. If young people can be helped to associate a city or a river or a mountain with certain dramatic events of history it would be helpful to memory.

EIGHT-HOUR LAW

In all his speeches since the primaries, Governor Johnson, without definitely making an issue of any initiative measures, has made it entirely evident that he is resolved to prevent any possible misunderstanding of the relation of the proposed eight-hour initiative to the Progressive administration. In speaking of the women's eight-hour law, which applies not to women universally, but to the women in those regularly organized occupations in which it is workable, Governor Johnson has gone out of his way to explain that this law must not be confused with the universal eight-hour initiative. The limited women's eight-hour law was passed by the Progressive legislature and signed by a Progressive governor, and the Progressive movement is very proud to stand sponsor for it. But the universal eight-hour initiative is a very different matter. It was introduced in the legislature by a Socialist and was defeated by Progressive votes. It is now in still more drastic form submitted to the people by the initiative of the Socialists, and is a definite appeal to the people of California to pass a Socialistic measure on Socialistic grounds.

The Socialists have a right to make this appeal, and if the majority of the people of California believed in Socialism, they would doubtless vote for it. But there should be no misunderstanding of the matter. This measure is not a Progressive, but is a Socialist measure. It is introduced by persons who know that it could not be made to work under the present organization of society and industry, and who regard this fact as a virtue. They do not believe in the present system of conducting industry and they think it would be a good thing to break that system down. That the proposed measure might destroy profits and jeopardize wages is no objection from the standpoint of those who believe that profits and wages are bad things. All who agree with them and who wish to abolish profits and wages will doubtless vote for this measure. No others should do so.

Just as the distinction must be made between the Progressive measure for an eight-hour day for women in certain industries and this Socialist measure for an universal and compulsory eight-hour day for everybody, so a distinction must be made between the eight-hour day and the eight-hour law. Legitimate opposition to this measure is not opposition to the eight-hour day, but rather to the enforcement of that day by law and to its rigid application to industries and circumstances in which it cannot be made to work. The eight-hour day in organized industries is a good thing and most industries are coming to it. Those which have stubbornly refused it will doubtless in due time be brought to it by the action of organized labor among their own employees. But even the eight-hour day as enforced by organized labor is less rigid than this law. It applies only to those forms of labor in which it is workable, and it allows exceptions even to these, provided they are necessary and do not deprive waiting workmen of employment, and that there is liberal pay at advanced rates for overtime work.

There are, however, some occupations in which the eight-hour day is not necessary nor now workable, and there are other occupations like harvesting crops, transporting goods, and all manner of emergency work, in which labor must sometimes be done temporarily on the basis fixed by the emergency or by the operations of nature, and not by any law or business rule. The general extension of the eight-hour day through the efforts of organized labor are not only proper as a protection to the workers, but are also an advantage to business and to the community.

It will easily be possible for the next legislature to provide a legitimate eight-hour law, if there is any general demand for it, and we understand that the farmers' organizations are willing to co-operate in the passage of such a law. But the law as now proposed is not workable, and in some of its applications would be ruinous. It is proposed by persons who would not regret to see it have certain ruinous consequences. It ought to receive the votes of these persons and of no others. In that case it will be overwhelmingly defeated, and the question of passing a legitimate eight-hour law can then be laid before the next legislature.—Fresno Republican.

Governor Johnson spoke Thursday night, September 10th, in Shrine Auditorium, Los Angeles, to an audience of 5000 people. Capt. Fredericks, a Los Angeles man, at the climax of his primary campaign, at his "home-coming welcome" that was boomed and advertised for weeks, had only 2500 people on the eve of the primary in Shrine Auditorium.

Capt. J. D. Fredericks has issued a small leaflet in which he declares his platform. It is so mild, innocuous and meaningless, so far as the real political issues of the hour in this state are concerned, that it is funny. There are five planks. They are: Republican principles, party solidarity, a tariff, industrial peace, prison reform, progress and prosperity.

City Commissioner M. J. Burke of Sacramento, who is perhaps the leading Democrat of the capital city and has been a Democrat all his life, is out strong for the re-election of Governor Johnson. He wrote in Johnson's name at the primary on the Democratic ballot. "I am for Hiram Johnson for governor and I don't care who knows it," says Burke.

Lincoln and Lee Always Against Liquor Traffic

Abraham Lincoln and Robert Lee, the two greatest figures of the Civil War period, were one in their opposition to the habit of drinking and the traffic in liquors.

On March 29, 1839, Mr. Lincoln delivered a speech in court at Clinton, Illinois, in defense of fifteen women who had smashed a wine parlor. In that speech he declared that the women had acted in accordance with the law of self-protection and the law of God.

Leonard Swett, one of the most intimate personal friends, and a biographer, declares that Lincoln broke with his partner, Berry, because the latter wanted to sell liquors in their grocery store, and also says that Mr. Lincoln told him not more than a year before he was elected president that he had not tasted liquor in his life. Ward Lamon, another Lincoln authority, also asserts that Mr. Lincoln made many speeches in favor of total abstinence. He also delivered, on February 22, 1842, at Springfield, Illinois, a classic temperance address. Two of the president's secretaries, John Hay and William O. Stoddard, also testified that Mr. Lincoln never used liquors in any form, and Major William H. Crook, executive clerk at the White House, gave like testimony.

General Lee gave his influence to the movement which established entire prohibition throughout all the war territory of the Confederacy. His chaplain, Dr. J. William Jones, says that, after the war:

"I was walking with him one day in Lexington during the sway of the military when, seeing a young man stagger out of one of the bar-rooms, he said: 'I wish that these military gentlemen, while they are doing so many things which they have no right to do, would close up all these grog-shops which are luring our young men to destruction.'"

"And in declaring his convictions to the students of Washington College, of which he was president after the war, General Lee said: 'My experience through life has convinced me that, while moderation and temperance in all things are commendable and beneficial, abstinence from spirituous liquors is the best safe-guard to morals and health.'"

ONE MINUTE INTERVIEWS

What People Are Talking About

"I have just learned that my drug store is on the Rexall roll of honor," said E. T. Mater, the druggist, "which is quite a distinction for Santa Ana when it is considered that this honor is based on the fact that I am one of the largest buyers of Rexall products of any of the dealers in cities approximating the size of Santa Ana in the United States."

"No other Rexall store in any city the size of Santa Ana in the state of California is on the Rexall roll of honor."

"I think that a great many Santa Ana, and Orange county people will be greatly disappointed that this year's Phoenix race will not be run through this county," said Boyd Ellis, who was mechanic for his brother Henley in last year's Phoenix race. "I venture to say that there were 100,000 people lined up along the course from Los Angeles clear down to San Diego when the race was run off last November. This proves the popularity of the event. Personally, I don't care very much which route is taken, although I do think that a great many local people will be put to considerable inconvenience through the necessity of having to go to the Elsinore country to get a glimpse of the racers."

Horace McPhee: "Every night I dream that I have lost my job, and I wake up worrying because I have been fired," said Horace McPhee, who recently sold his paper, the Blade, which he had owned for nineteen years. "That happens when I am asleep. When I am awake I am enjoying the change hugely."

Former Gov. Geo. C. Pardee: "I have been touring the state by auto for the past six weeks," said former Gov. Pardee when he passed through

Santa Ana the other day, "and there is not the slightest doubt in my mind about the re-election of Gov. Johnson. And I shall be disagreeably surprised if Francis J. Heney is not elected United States Senator. He will poll most of the Johnson vote because he stands for the same principles the Governor stands for, and his personal following is large. Regardless of party, the people believe in these men and their transcendent abilities and force of character as compared with those qualities in their opponents."

Wm. McCulloch: "The time of the ten-twenty-three-cent show is past," said William McCulloch, manager of the Grand Opera House today. "The moving picture shows have put them out of business. Most of the twenty-three actors are now working in moving pictures. They don't have to travel, they have day work, and an actor who can make up young or an actor who has lost his voice can all get in on the job."

Erie L. Veuve: "Santa Ana has certainly grown," said E. L. Veuve, civil engineer of Los Angeles. Veuve laid

Chas. S. Kelley: "I have just made the last deliveries of the furniture and equipment for the new Orange County Hospital," said Chas. S. Kelley of the Rowley Drug Company. "My contract with the county called for supplying all furniture, fixtures and equipment, for the operating rooms, laboratories, bed rooms, wards, dining room and kitchen."

"To be a little more specific, we furnished all surgical instruments, operating tables and other equipment for the operating room; static machine, X-ray outfit, wheel chairs, stretchers and other general equipment. The furnishings for the bed rooms included all the beds, mattresses and blankets. In the dining room we furnished everything, including the table silver. We also furnished the kitchen range and utensils, the hospital office furniture, desks, rugs and chairs."

"It was a big job for us to handle, but we got away with it to the satisfaction of all concerned."

RUSSIANS PRAY FOR CURE OF DRUNKARDS

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 11.—While their husbands, brothers and fathers were fighting with the Russian army in the east of Germany, thousands of women throughout the empire today attended services in orthodox churches to pray for the cure of those afflicted with the evil of drunkenness. Today had been set apart for this service by the Holy Synod, which acted upon the suggestion of the Metropolitan of Moscow.

John the Baptist was beheaded on September 11. This act was attributed to the inebriety of Herod. In addition to the service there were religious processions, with holy relics and emblems.

ALTAR SOCIETY MET

Entertained at Beautiful New Home of Mrs. Clyde Holt; Bazaar Plans Made

The charming new home of Mrs. Clyde Holt, 208 East Chestnut street, was opened to the ladies of the Altar Society of St. Joseph's Catholic church yesterday afternoon. No feature of the afternoon was so much enjoyed as the inspection of the supremely artistic and comfortable house, which needed no adornment but which was fragrant with the perfume of pink carnations and white roses, with marigolds adding a brilliant touch of color. Plans were made during the afternoon for the three days' bazaar on November 3, 4 and 5 at Elks' hall. The young ladies of the church will serve supper each night of the bazaar.

Social chat was enjoyed over the two-course collation of chicken salad, delicious sandwiches, coffee and ice cream. The bricks of ice cream were in the papal colors, orange and white, the original tints, with nile green, the new color added by Pope Benedict XV in honor of his city of Bologna. Mrs. Holt was assisted in serving by her cousin, Mrs. L. B. Forcy, and Mrs. Mayme Murphy.

Father H. Eummell was the guest of honor. Others present were Mrs. C. V. Davis, Mrs. P. Owens, Mrs. Julia Maher, Mrs. W. H. Tuthill, Mrs. Brennan, Mrs. Louise Waite, Mrs. Geo. W. Young, Mrs. Chas. Schmiedeberg, Mrs. M. Kramer, Mrs. John Rudolph, Mrs. Pohlmann, Mrs. Klatt, Mrs. Magrudy, Mrs. G. E. Shelton, Mrs. Joseph Young, Mrs. Mayme Murphy, Mrs. L. B. Forcy, Mrs. Olive Lopez, Mrs. Horace Fine, Mrs. E. A. Biggs, Mrs. H. G. Nau, Mrs. Chas. Bevis, Misses Katie Anselmino, Elizabeth Rudolph, Anna Young, Clarence Keefe.

C. W. B. M. Meeting
The C. W. B. M. ladies of the Christian church held their regular monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon in the Sunday school room of the church.

Rugs from the class rooms and decorations of purple and white asters gave the room a home-like appearance. Mrs. W. T. Mitchell presided during the discussion of the lesson and Mrs. James O'Brien read a splendid paper on "Our Needs," in connection with the topic.

All were surprised and delighted when Rev. W. C. Payne of Indianapolis, Ind., spoke on "The Importance of Training Our Young People for Missionary Service."

At the close of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

For Miss Chamberlain
Miss Lela Heil was hostess at a party last evening, given in honor of Miss Eula Chamberlain, who recently returned to California with her parents from Kansas. The rooms were tastefully decorated with pink bouquets of roses and dahlias.

A most delightful evening was spent in various games, although the greater part of the evening was spent in progressive ruck, in which Miss Eula Chamberlain was the most successful.

Delicious refreshments of pineapple ice and cake were served. The pink color scheme was carried out in the refreshments. The invited guests were the Misses Eula Chamberlain, Doris Wells, Alma Salt, Eleanor Ege, Ruth Bevis, Marian and Hattie Hutton.

Had Serious Injury
Mrs. Linn L. Shaw went to Los Angeles this morning to be with Mrs. Ed Tedford, her sister, who fell on Wednesday down a flight of steps leading from Griffin avenue to Mosher avenue, breaking two bones between her knee and ankle. Mrs. Tedford is doing as well as possible after sustaining a serious and painful injury. Her complete recovery is hoped for by her host of friends in Santa Ana, where the Ed Tedfords so long resided.

At the Peters Home
A pleasant little party was given last evening by Miss Leora Peters at her home, 110 West First street, to a small group of friends. Pink roses were used in house and table decorations, and the evening passed merrily in games and music both vocal and instrumental. Dainty refreshments were served at a prettily appointed table late in the evening.

Those besides the hostess who participated in the event were Misses Helen Stanley, Edna Sheworth, Esther Van Hine, Blanche Anderson and Mrs. Ed Warner.

Famous "War Bulletin"
The "war bulletin" so cleverly written by Charles S. Shaw for the "showers" given on Wednesday evening by Torosa Rebekah Lodge in honor of one of their beloved members, Miss Bess Lacy, a bride-elect, was highly enjoyed by the large number of lodge members present. There has been a general request for the publication of the "bulletin" in its entirety and it is herewith given:

SANTA ANA, 9-9-1914.
To Noble Grand Torosa Rebekah Lodge—LATEST WAR BULLETIN
Fortress Bessie Lacy has surrendered to Col. Eddy Bruns—Courtship fast and furious—Engagement announced—Although reinforced by the combined forces of her father and mother, she was finally compelled to surrender to the furious onslaught—Will be allowed to retain her arms, and be accorded all the honors of war—General Dan Cupid outflanks the enemy, and gains complete victory—She will have name changed to comply with new government—Col. Bruns congratulated on magnificent victory—Miss Lacy put up gallant fight against overwhelming odds, but victor seemed to have all the luck on his side—Surrender came after long siege of her heart—Says she will accept new ruler gracefully, if he will let her have her own way all the time—In acknowledgment of her plucky fight against such odds, she will be presented with a wedding ring at an early date—The principal weapons used were Cupid's arrows and ice cream—Friends hear of surrender with mingled feelings—This is the worst loss in the war since Fortress Mary Cox was captured by the enemy, Dr. E. E. Emerson, of Butte Falls, Ontario—General Mat. Rimony, who has been engaged in warfare for some time, led the forces of the allies—His victory was complete.

Serenade and Surprise
A delightful serenade and surprise party were the pleasant social courtesies paid to Miss Lois Wilson last evening, anticipatory of her near departure for Los Angeles Normal school, where she will be a student this year. Two ukuleles and two mandolins mingled with the sweet voices of the singers.

Tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock another explanatory talk on the "Progressive Series" will be given at the Conservatory.

who assembled at the Wilson home at 649 Birch street, and were later used in accompanying musical numbers given throughout the evening. The surprising party and their hostess decided that the spacious lawn was a perfectly good place for the pastimes that were enjoyed, among which were some jolly outdoor games. Candy and popcorn made tasty refreshments after the games.

Besides the honoree of the occasion, Miss Lois Wilson, there were present the following: Miss Winifred Roberts, Miss Hazel Kendig, Miss LaRue Pippis, Miss Clara Wilson, Miss Ray Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Errol Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Williams, Messrs. Chas. Parslow, Paul Martin and Carl Hartman.

At Errol Lucas Home
The H. C. Club members were entertained pleasantly this week by Mrs. Errol Lucas, fancy work engaging the attention of the young women with merry chat accompanying the busy fingers. Two new members, Miss Winifred Roberts and Miss LaRue Pippis, were taken into the club circle. A guest of the club was Miss Thelma Blew.

Takes Extended Trip
J. S. Brooks of 1327 North Broadway left today for an extended visit in the Middle West. He left over the Santa Fe for Mount Sterling, Illinois, and expects to be at least fifteen days on the journey. He will stop en route at Schubert, Neb., where he will visit some old "Boys in Blue;" then at Sebatia, Neb., and Bushnell, Ill., before reaching Mount Sterling, where he will visit his only sister, Mrs. Helen Dawson. Later he goes to Chambersburg, Ill., to visit relatives. On his return he stops at Quincy, later at Milton Valley in Northern Kansas, where he lived five years raising grain and stock; then at McPherson in Central Kansas, where he resided for twenty years. When he reaches Santa Ana Mr. Brooks will have been absent two months.

Whittier Wedding
Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hill have returned from Whittier where they attended the wedding of Miss Ethelyn Moo man and their son, Bert Hill, on Wednesday. The marriage took place at the home of the bride's mother at 11 o'clock with only the presiding minister, Rev. W. J. Marsh and his wife, Mrs. Lydia Moomau and Mr. and Mrs. Hill present. The bride was very attractive in a handsome tailored traveling suit of hunter's green. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony, after which the bride and groom departed for San Diego where a brief stay will be followed by a visit to Santa Ana. They will arrive here tomorrow and will remain here for a week. The romance which culminated in the wedding of Wednesday began in the wedding of Wednesday began in the Santa Ana grammar school, hence the newly wedded couple have a very warm spot in their hearts for this city. They will reside in Whittier where they will occupy the pretty new bungalow home to which the Moo man family moved.

Mrs. A. J. Lawton, president of the Southern District of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, was a guest today at the East Newport home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilson, where members of the commission of the seven Southern California counties and the Woman's Auxiliary to the Southern District of the California Federation of Women's Clubs met. The commissions are interested in both the San Diego exposition, where the seven Southern California counties will combine in a splendid exhibit. The Federated Women's Clubs of the Southern District are particularly anxious to further this work and to this end the district president, Mrs. Lawton, was asked to meet the commissions today. She will outline to the various clubs in the Southern District the plans to be carried out. She has already met one of these clubs this week, the Huntington Beach Woman's Club, where she explained how materially the San Diego exposition can be assisted by the loyal support of the women of the clubs.

$25 Suits $15--(?)

Two suits of clothes can be made from the same kind of cloth to sell at $15 and $25 respectively. They may look alike in the display window, and if the cheaper one were advertised as a "$25 SUIT FOR $15" some men would believe the offer to be valid.

BUT—After wearing it a short time the lack of good workmanship would manifest itself.

Woman's Committee

The pretty home of Mrs. Helen Anson of Garden Grove was the scene yesterday of the first fall meeting of the Woman's Committee of Santa Ana. The spacious living and dining rooms were tastefully decorated with Shasta daisies and Marguerites relieved with sprays of daintily trailing ferns. The meeting being in the form of an all-day affair. The forenoon was spent in pleasant conversation and selections by Mrs. E. J. Bates and Mrs. Hardison Murrbank, who are both accomplished musicians. A delicious two-course luncheon was served which closed the greatly enjoyed forenoon session. In the afternoon the usual business meeting was entered into with an abundance of enthusiasm.

It was decided to change the day for meeting to the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month instead of Thursdays. There were two guests present, Mrs. Clara Clyde and Mrs. C. E. Johnston, both of Garden Grove, one new member being received. The next meeting will be an all-day picnic with one of those delicious picnic dinners which the friends of this organization can testify to the merits of, and will be held in Birch Park, Sept. 22, at which time the entire membership is urgently requested to be present.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Barnes announced that Dr. Ada Patterson of Los Angeles who is a very efficient Socialist speaker, will speak in K. P. Hall next Sunday evening on "Spiritualism and the Labor Problem," everyone welcome.

NEAR ANAHEIM TWO AUTOS COLLIDE

Warrant is Out for the Arrest of Harry Shipkey of Orange

GEORGE MENGES IS
THE COMPLAINANT

Charges That Shipkey Drove
His Car While Intoxicated

Two automobiles collided on the state highway about a half mile south of the Anaheim city limits last night, resulting in considerable damage to both machines. None of the occupants of the autos were injured. As a result of the collision George Menges, of East First street, Santa Ana, who was driving one of the machines, has sworn to a complaint charging Harry L. Shipkey, a prominent citizen of Orange, with driving an automobile while intoxicated.

The accident occurred at about 8 o'clock last night. Riding in the machine with Menges were Charles Fipp, of 602 South Broadway, Santa Ana, and several others. Menges was driving in the direction of Anaheim. Approaching from the north came Shipkey, driving a Colby roadster. Riding with Shipkey was a Santa Ana man. Seeing that Shipkey was zig-zagging from side to side of the road, Menges says he turned out to the extreme right. The right wheels of Menges' car were off the pavement. In spite of the fact that Menges gave the approaching roadster plenty of room to pass, Shipkey's car collided with that of Menges. This is the story told by Menges to the district attorney.

The left front wheel of Shipkey's car was taken off, while the fenders and tool box on the left side of Menges' car were bent and smashed. Shipkey this afternoon telephoned Motorcycle Officer Ballard, who holds the warrant, that he would come to Santa Ana.

On Two Grounds Judge Sustains Demurrer in Libel
Case

Judge Thomas wants to see the thing written out in Japanese. A Jap named Nigouchi or something like that is suing the Los Angeles News Co. for publishing some articles about Nigouchi. The defendant put in a demurrer declaring that the complaint was not legally correct in that it had a translation of the alleged libelous articles instead of having the articles as they were printed in Japanese, and in that the name of the paper in which the articles appeared was not given. The plaintiff is given an opportunity to amend his complaint and in so doing put the exact language upon paper so that it may be perused by the judge. The judge has ruled that under the law the original language must be before him.

Foreclosure Cases
Two foreclosure judgments were rendered today by Judge Thomas. Judgment for $1638.75 was given in favor of Elliott G. Haley against Geneva L. Elliott. A lot at Balboa Island is concerned. Judgment for $3526 was entered for L. J. Greenwald against H. W. Higley with a lot at Newport Beach involved.

MAY APPOINT SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER TODAY

Director Carden Back From East, Vacancy May Be Filled

It is probable that at a meeting of the Santa Ana board of education this evening, a director will be appointed to take the place of Harry G. Dean, who resigned upon moving to Los Angeles. L. J. Carden, a member of the school board, has been away on a trip east for several weeks, and the filling of a vacancy was postponed until his return. Carden arrived home Wednesday, and will be present at the meeting of the school board this evening. Tomorrow afternoon is the regular meeting time of the board, but City Superintendent Cranston desiring to be out of town tomorrow, the meeting date was shoved ahead a day.

Who will be the appointee? That question cannot be answered as yet, probably not before the meeting. Several names have been suggested. There seems to be no one seeking the appointment. Since Dean lived in the southern part of the city, some of the members of the board prefer to have Dean's successor come from that side of the city.

Again Established
The school authorities have re-established a department of drawing and penmanship in the grades. Last year the work was in charge of Miss Palma Young. At the end of the school year it was decided to do away with the department. This decision was reached when other departments were abolished in the retrenchment plan. Recently it was decided to re-establish Miss Young's department, and she will be in charge again the coming year.

Two Resignations
At least two resignations will be received at the board meeting. W. J. Bovee, chemistry teacher, has asked to be released that he may take a position in Los Angeles at a salary of about $200 more than he received here. Miss Nunn is to resign as art teacher.

BURGLARS WILL NEVER GET INTO IT

Railroad Iron, Concrete, and Steel Bars a Formidable
Mass

Workmen employed by Engstrom & Company of Los Angeles are putting the top on the vault that is being built for the Farmers and Merchants National Bank of Santa Ana, and their work will soon be completed.

"It is one of the most modern and best vaults in California," said one of the foremen, who has worked on a number of vaults.

The vault is two stories high, giving the bank a vault space of 20 by 64 feet.

There is about as much difference between a modern bank vault and the old fashioned safes as there is between a railroad train and a wheelbarrow. Take the way the top is being finished. Any burglar who sets forth to break into it will have a mountain-sized job on his hands, even if he should not be molested in his work. The ceiling of the vault is lined with railroad iron. On top of that is laid hundreds of feet of burglar alarm wire and criss-crossed rods of three-quarter-inch steel. And on top of that, surrounding the wires and the steel, is a solid mass of two feet of concrete, with a large amount of cement in the mix. Altogether the top will be twenty-nine and a half inches thick. The sides of the vault, constructed in much the same manner, are twenty-one inches thick.

BARTENDER WAS DROWNED AT BALBOA

Wanders to His Death Along
Sandspit—Was Mentally
Unbalanced

HAD BEEN AT BEACH
TOWN THREE MONTHS

Only Relative Appears to Be an Uncle in Cleveland,
Ohio

Jack Kennedy, a bartender, aged about 25 years, was drowned yesterday in Newport Bay while wandering about the sandspit east of Balboa in a half-crazed condition brought about by excessive drinking. The body is being held at the undertaker's parlors of Mills & Winbiger, pending the arrival of word from his relatives. Kennedy had been at Balboa for about three months. During that time he was employed by the Bay View buffet. While he was at the beach town he had never dropped a hint as to whether he was married or whether he had any relatives.

In communicating with parties in Los Angeles today Coroner Winbiger learned that an uncle of Kennedy's, Patsy Kennedy, is employed in the sheriff's office in Cleveland, Ohio. The coroner wired the uncle this afternoon.

Jack Kennedy's weakness, and one of the causes supposed to be directly responsible for his tragic death, was liquor. Owing to his habit of drinking he was discharged from the Bay View saloon about three weeks ago. Since that time he drank more heavily than ever. Out of work, he wandered about Balboa in a constant state of intoxication. Toward the last residents of Balboa noticed that Kennedy's excessive drinking was unbalancing his mind.

Yesterday morning Kennedy wandered off along the ocean side of the sandspit east of Balboa. No particular attention was given him. To one woman who lives on the ocean front Kennedy made an incoherent remark of some kind and then passed on.

Later Kennedy was seen to take off his coat and shoes. That was the last that was seen of the unfortunate man until about 3:30 yesterday afternoon, when a little girl found his lifeless body floating in the bay near the bay's entrance.

Coroner Winbiger is convinced that Kennedy's death was not the result of a deliberate attempt at suicide. The man was mentally deranged and was also known to be in a half-famished state.

A physician at Balboa warned Kennedy to quit drinking. The doctor stated that at that time Kennedy's pulse was registering 127.

City Marshal Oldring of Balboa stated that the late Kennedy had been drinking about sixty glasses of whiskey daily.

Search by Coroner Winbiger of a suitcase which Kennedy had left in the Bay View Buffet failed to reveal any clues as to the whereabouts of the dead man's relatives. There were no letters or other written documents in the suitcase.

EFFECT OF PROHIBITION ON CRIME, PAUPERISM AND INSANITY

The Supreme Court of the United States is authority for the declaration that "the statistics of every state show a greater amount of crime and misery attributable to the use of ardent spirits obtained at these retail liquor saloons than to any other source."

No state of the Union has given prohibition so fair a trial as has the state of Kansas. Today that state presents the unparalleled record of almost two-thirds of the counties of the state without a single prisoner serving sentence for crime, while in some of the counties a jury to try a criminal case has not been called in ten years.

The Federal census reports for 1910 show that the number of paupers in almshouses per 100,000 population, in the prohibition states (8 of which were under prohibition in 1910) is 46; in the 17 near-prohibition states, 54; in the 13 partially license states, 123, and in the 9 license states, 129.

The relation of the liquor traffic to the alarming growth of insanity among our people is engaging the interest and attention of the world's best scientists. The United States census reports for 1910 show the number of insane in hospitals per 100,000 population in the 9 prohibition states to be 119; in the 17 near-prohibition states, 150; in the 13 partially license states, 242; and in the 9 license states, 276.

WHICH WAY IS SALT LAKE TO ENTER CITY?

That Question is Interesting a
Lot of People in
Santa Ana

Taking the theory that the Salt Lake road is really going to build through Santa Ana, along what route will it enter from the north?

There are a lot of people who own property between Fourth and Garfield streets and the north city limits who would like to have an answer to that question.

Where will it cross the Southern Pacific? Will it enter Orange?

"If it goes to Orange a line straight north might be followed, which would put the crossing of the S. P. but a few blocks from Fourth street. If it should miss Orange the crossing of the S. P. might not be made for several blocks further north, which would also mean that the Salt Lake would be getting into a well built up residence section.

According to the most recent information from Anaheim, recent purchases have been made west of the Santa Fe tracks instead of to the east as at first reported. If this campaign of property buying really means Salt Lake, it means that the Santa Fe is to be closely paralleled nearly all the way through this county.

There is no question but that a good deal of property located between First and Fifth streets, east of Garfield street, in Santa Ana has just been sold to Los Angeles parties.

The Anaheim Herald reports the alleged Salt Lake activities at Anaheim as follows:

"During the past few weeks numerous rumors were afloat in and around Anaheim that an eastern syndicate had agents here negotiating for property along the west side of the Santa Fe property. A Herald representative was put on the scent but the rumors could not be verified until today when it was learned that Green & Brearley, real estate agents, whose offices are in the Hellman building, Los Angeles, have purchased the Williams Bros. corner lot, 50x120, upon which their office is located for $125 per front foot.

"The same parties purchased from the Ganahl Lumber Company, through C. F. Grim, twenty-six lots, 6 on the north and 20 on the south side of Center. An Anaheim resident has been requested to get price or option on all adjoining property between Krouger street and the Santa Fe property.

The same parties who purchased considerable property south of the Santa Fe depot at Fullerton a few weeks ago offered Frank Claudina Tuesday $10,000 for lots which have a 138-foot frontage and which adjoin the property they recently purchased.

"While it is reported that the deals made here and in Fullerton are being made for the Salt Lake route or the Pacific Electric, some claim the purchases are for the Santa Fe which will use the additional ground for double tracking from Los Angeles to San Diego."

PLANS TO SMOKE FREDERICKS OUT

Governor Johnson Given Splendid Reception by Great Crowd at Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.—An audience of 500 men and women waving American flags and voicing their enthusiasm in prolonged cheering, gave Governor Hiram W. Johnson a typical Los Angeles welcome as he stepped on the platform of Shrine Auditorium last night.

It was a demonstration that not only conveyed the heartiest and most cordial of greetings, but it was one that carried with it convincing assurance that Los Angeles may be counted on to continue steadfast in its support and adherence to those government principles and policies so ably championed by the governor and which in the last four years he has succeeded in having written into the statutes of California.

In this great demonstration were a large number of members of other political parties, some of them seated upon the stage and others in the body of the hall. Among these, three were on the speaking program. Mrs. Eliza Tupper Wilkes, prominent in women's Democratic organizations; General E. C. Bellows, former consul general to Japan and a lifelong Republican; and Thomas E. Gibson, ten years a leading Democrat in this state, all joined in announcing their support of Governor Johnson and the administration he has given to California. They gave as their reason for taking this position the demand of good citizenship that honest and efficient government be placed above mere party affiliation and tradition.

Francis J. Heney, candidate for United States senator, also delivered a short address and was given a rousing reception as he rose to speak. Lieutenant Governor A. J. Wallace presided at the meeting and introduced the speakers.

Governor Johnson's speech was a forceful presentation of the record of his administration, and his earnestness and evident sincerity made a deep impression on his audience. His address was frequently interrupted by applause, particularly at those times when he tore the mask of hypocrisy from his opponents and challenged them to come out into the open and tell the people just where they stand on important state issues.

Referring to the attempt of the reactionary element either to begot the issues or dodge them entirely, and of their characterization of the laws passed during the last four years as fads and freaks, the governor made this bold declaration:

"Before I am through this campaign I will make the distinguished gentleman, who is my Republican opponent, stand up and tell us which of the laws we have passed he would repeal."

HUMANE EDUCATION IN COUNTY SCHOOLS

In an open letter to teachers and the press written by the California Humane Press Committee, under the direction of the American Humane Education Society, Palo Alto, Cal., the question is asked, "How many of the schools of California have any systematic work in humane education?" This subject has been included in the list of statutory studies for the schools ever since 1901.

County Superintendent of Schools R. P. Mitchell states that humane education is included in the Morals and Manners course of study for students in primary grades in this county. In the second grade, for instance, teachers are required to give instruction on being kind to animals. Outlined in the course of study for this grade hints are given on the teaching of pupils to be kind "to those that serve us; to those that do not harm us; the killing of birds; the killing of animals for food; cruelty to any animal."

Other things taught in this grade are the necessity of love, for parents, for brothers and sisters and for other members of the family and friends; truth in words and actions; fidelity in duty to parents, to the poor and unfortunate and to the wronged and oppressed.

"In addition to this regular course which is included in the Morals and Manners department," said Superintendent Mitchell, "the teachers give considerable attention to the teaching of the humane side of bird study." In an address to teachers, Hon. Edward Hyatt said: "I beg all the teachers of the state to get some conception of the humane education movement into their own souls, to grasp it, to know what it is for, what it is driving at, to feel it. The stream cannot rise above its source."

BALLAD OF "WETS"
PARIS, Sept. 11.—"We Won't Go Home Until Morning," the popular "wet" ballad, was just 205 years old today. It is said to have been composed by a French soldier in a drinking bout following a victory of French arms on the battlefield. It was a popular favorite of Marie Antoinette.

IMPROVEMENTS IN TUSTIN ARE MANY

Handsone New Store Building
Near Finish—Work Progresses on Schoolhouse

The imposing front of the handsome new store on Main and C streets built by Mr. Sam Tustin is making a fine showing. The work of paving between the columns which extends to the curbing is about finished. This new store would be an ornament to any city street and will be a great improvement to the looks of Tustin. The Tustin Mercantile Company expects to occupy the new store soon after the first of October. This will make a most commodious and convenient place of business for this thriving firm and will give an opportunity to increase business.

The house which was moved from the Moore place to make room for the new school house was purchased by Albert Smith and has been placed on one of the hotel lots. It has been thoroughly renewed and finished in white and is now ready for occupancy.

A new bungalow home is being built by Will Bowman out on Irvine Boulevard. The new school house it growing satisfactorily. The concrete work of the basement is about completed and work has been begun on the main story.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Thickness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggy and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Advertisement.

BORROWING MONEY
In July last the United States Department of Agriculture issued a bulletin on "How to Use Farm Credit," containing good common sense rules which are good ones to adhere to, not only for those who want to use Farm Credits, but for all who would borrow money for any purpose.

The five rules given in this bulletin which should be followed in borrowing money, are calculated to convince the farmer that there is no magic about credit.

Borrowing money is easy enough sometimes and some have borrowed with the thought in mind that something will turn up at the right time to pay back.

A wholesome distinction is pointed out in this bulletin between borrowing money to be used for a purpose that will produce more money and borrowing money to spend on one's self.

The government's advice to a farmer who is thinking of borrowing money is: don't, unless he fully understands these rules and is willing to be guided by them.

The three most important ones are:
1. Make sure that the purpose for which the borrowed money is to be used will produce a return greater than needed to pay the debt.
2. The length of time the debt is to run should have a close relation to the productive life of the improvement for which the money is borrowed.
3. Provision should be made in long-time loans for the gradual reduction of the principal.

It makes little difference whether the interest be high or low if the money buys an equipment which will make more than enough to pay principal and interest.

The auto stage now running hourly between Santa Ana and Tustin has been well patronized and it is expected that it will be more so later on when it is found to be cheaper and easier than a wheel, and when the high school boys and girls begin to go to Santa Ana.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS

Tustin Literature Section
The Tustin Literature Section will hold their first meeting after a vacation with Mrs. W. L. Leiby next Tuesday afternoon.

Returned Home
Mr. and Mrs. John Holt are enjoying home life since returning from a camping trip to the northern part of the state.

They started on a trip through the northern part of the state some weeks ago, camping part of the time and visiting friends along the way at Englewood, Ventura, Lompoc, Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo and Paso Robles. Their prospective destination was Petaluma, but owing to the indisposition of Mr. Holt, they concluded to return from Paso Robles.

The trip was much enjoyed and home comforts are now doubly enjoyed.

Birthday Party
A lovely birthday party was very much enjoyed by all the little friends of Louise Artz this afternoon upon the occasion of her birthday.

A table decorated all in pink, was spread. A beautiful birthday cake with five candles as well as ice cream, popcorn and candy were the good things on it.

The afternoon sped all too quickly with games on the lawn and the porch and in the large rooms of the new Artz home.

Mrs. Artz was assisted in entertaining the happy little ones by her cousins, Misses Beatrice and Nellie Wilbur, of Santa Ana.

The little girls of the party were Marjorie and Leona Cranston, Helen Smith, Norma Nordstrom, Evelyn and June Willard, Marjorie Wollenburg, Lenora, Beulah and Cinderella Phinney, Elsie Wilkins and Helen Polard.

Election of Officers
At a Christian Endeavor business meeting last Tuesday night at the Presbyterian church the following officers were elected: President, Miss Gertrude Utt; vice president, Miss Wilhelmnia Bennett; recording secretary, Miss Dorothy Utt; treasurer, Miss Emma Awe; pianist, Miss Ada May Sharpless.

Attended Presbyterian
At the meeting of the Los Angeles Presbyterian at the First Presbyterian church in Santa Ana last Tuesday, there were eighteen representatives from Tustin present.

The Presbyterian is a sort of clearing house for a Presbyterian mission news—home, foreign, work among fieldmen, and foreigners in this country. While its meetings are held monthly in Los Angeles, once a year county meetings are held such as that of last Tuesday.

The Tustin Presbyterian church has a live missionary society and its members have been deeply interested in the meetings and reports of the Presbyterian and particularly interested in their building and furnishing of the new Spanish school in Los Angeles. They appreciated the opportunity to meet and listen to a talk by Miss Young the new house-mother who has been secured for the new Spanish school. Miss Young has formerly worked among the mountaineers of Kentucky, Virginia and Tennessee.

This all-day meeting at the First Presbyterian church in Santa Ana on Tuesday was a very interesting one. The speakers and their reports occupied the day until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

At the noon hour the ladies were all seated at snowy white tables upon which they spread their lunches and hot coffee was served by the hostess society.

Box Social
On next Monday night, September 14, at 7:30 o'clock, in K. of P. hall, a box social will be held by the Christian Endeavor Society. Every one is cordially invited. All the girls are expected to bring a well-filled box. These good things to eat will be sold before the meeting and Mrs. C. E. Miller took charge of the program for the afternoon, the subject for study being "Institute Work."

A beautiful piano piece—"Trinity Chimes"—was then played by Mrs. Harry Lewis.

A scripture reading by Mrs. C. E. Utt was followed with prayer by Miss Minnie C. Childs.

Mrs. Miller then called for readings bearing on the subject from the different ladies. Mrs. Edie Crawford, Mrs. C. P. Smith, Mrs. Kate Ebel and Miss Childs responded. The latter called attention to the good work being done in the navy.

The fact was pointed out that some friends of the wine industry had accused the temperance speakers of exaggerating the cost of crime. It was suggested that the ladies do what they could to find out whether it was true or not. These women want to depend on solid facts and they will do what they can to find them.

After a short study of the different measures which the W.C.T.U. think important to vote upon at the election in November, the meeting adjourned. Miss Dorothy Utt then played a beautiful violin piece accompanied by Miss Gertrude Utt, at the close of which the ladies insisted upon another, and the young ladies responded with a second violin and piano piece.

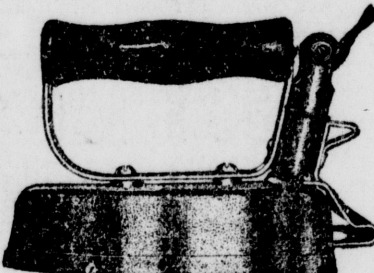

At Orange County Park Picnic
Tustin contributed a large share of the enthusiastic crowd at the California Dry picnic on Monday at Orange County Park.

By automobiles and buggies or on trucks they all managed to get there and all the attractions of the day including the splendid speakers and the music were fully enjoyed.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Advertisement.

PRICE SETTING DATE STILL IN DOUBT

Walnut Association Men Meet in Los Angeles—Foreign Crop Data Lacking

DELIVERIES ALREADY BEING MADE HERE

Several Packing Houses Enlarge Their Plants—Earliest Season Known

That association prices on walnuts will be set either on September 24 or on October 1 was decided at a meeting of the Southern California Walnut Growers' Association held yesterday in Los Angeles. No definite date was set for setting prices owing to the lack of sufficient data on the outlook on foreign crops. The consensus of opinion on the part of the representatives present was that on account of the unsettled conditions in Europe and the inability to get at this time data on what importations there will be from Europe it would be advisable to delay as long as possible a decision on prices.

Every walnut association in Southern California was represented at yesterday's meeting. The Santa Ana Valley Walnut Growers' Association was represented by C. F. Crose, Oscar Greenwald and M. Nisson of Santa Ana. Between forty-five and fifty association men from the various walnut growing districts of the southern part of the state were present.

Already Making Deliveries
Many of the packing houses in Santa Ana have already received small deliveries of walnuts. Picking has been actively in progress for several weeks. Growers are extremely busy just now at harvesting the first of this season's crop and have given but little attention so far to deliveries.

To provide for increased facilities for handling this year's walnut crop an addition of sixty or seventy-five feet has been built to the Guggenheim packing house on the Southern Pacific tracks on Fruit street. This addition will provide increased storage room and will also serve to house some new machinery.

Early Shipment
The Guggenheim Company received a carload of walnuts from San Juan Capistrano yesterday. The nuts will immediately be processed and as soon

C. R. SCHENCK AND SON BUY INTEREST IN PRODUCE STORE

The interest of H. C. Wilson and Asa Hoffman in the Santa Ana Produce Company has been sold to Chas. R. Schenck and his son, Hubert Schenck. Wilson and Hoffman became partners in the produce business at the southeast corner of Fourth and Main streets six years ago, and have had a well established and prosperous business.

The company is a corporation. Antonio Berkhofer and others are stockholders in it. Schenck and his son went into the active control of the store today. Wilson and Hoffman will remain for about a week. Wilson will probably go to El Centro, where he has property interests.

The sale to Schenck concerns only the business, the building opposite the Odd Fellows' building still remaining the property of Wilson and Hoffman.

Schenck is well known here. For four years he was county surveyor, and is thoroughly informed on local produce conditions.

Building Boom Is on at Growing Placentia

Placentia Courier: Despite the stagnation in building and business lines in other places in the Southland, there is more of a building boom in Placentia at the present time than there has been for the past two years.

The big two-story Kraemer pressed brick block is fast nearing completion, and it is understood that the offices in the upper floor have all been rented to oil companies operating in the Placentia field, this information having been given a party wishing to lease offices in the building recently, and that the two large stores on the first floor have also been let to business firms.

The Placentia Preserving Company

as this is done will be shipped out of the state. This carload of walnuts will be a record-breaker for early shipments. The walnuts are earlier this season than ever before.

At the packing house of C. C. Collins Company, Fourth street, east of the Santa Fe tracks, a new addition is being built. The addition is 16 by 64 feet in size and will provide considerable much-needed storage room for this rapidly growing firm.

Association
It was reported that the Santa Ana Valley Walnut Growers' Association packing house would be opened next week. According to A. C. Tiede this is doubtful. Tiede thinks that the plant will be opened early the week following. The work of putting the machinery in shape for the handling of this season's walnut crop has been going on for some time. The association board of directors meets Saturday and then the opening date will be decided.

BUNGALOW PLANS READY

Plans for an attractive cottage of the type called "Swiss chalet" have been completed by Architect Fred Opp for Charles Phipps. Phipps has not yet decided upon a location for the proposed residence, which is to have six rooms and all modern features, such as built-in closets. In many ways the design, as planned by Architect Opp, combines details of arrangement not generally found in the ordinary bungalow.

DEVELOPMENT IN PLACENTIA OIL FIELDS

Placentia Courier: While development work in the matter of starting new wells has been halted here as elsewhere, as a result of the great European war, development work already under way has been continued right along, and there is more life in this district, according to reports from men who have recently come from Bakersfield and elsewhere, than anywhere in the state.

The latest good news in the development of the great Placentia oil field is the lease by William Berkenstock and A. M. Smith of twenty-two acres in the Placentia district to William Loftus for oil development. The contract as filed calls for one-fourth royalty, which is the largest known to have been made by any oil lessors in this or other fields. It is understood that drilling operations are to begin shortly.

ANAHEIM TO HAVE TWO STORY BLOCK

The new two-story building reported in the Anaheim Daily Herald that is to be erected on the corner of Center and Lemon streets is a reality.

The new owner of this property, which was recently purchased from H. A. Dickel, is F. A. Yungbluth. Mr. Yungbluth is a prominent business man of this city and has always been in line for improvements. In the new building he is to erect on the lot next to the postoffice he will put up one of the best buildings for store purposes in this city.

The first floor will be occupied by two stores and the second story will be used as a rooming houses with all of the latest equipment to be obtained. Everything will be done to make this building one of the best to be found in this city and that means a great deal. As soon as the plans are drawn the contract will be let and it is expected that a fine building will be erected on this excellent corner inside of three months.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET
Heavy arrivals of grapes have caused the price on nearly all varieties of that fruit to drop.

Owing to the heavy arrival of local yellow Danver and Australian brown onions, as well as shipments of good size from the north, the price dropped as low as 85 cents a hundred yesterday, the lowest it has been in a number of years. Even the white onions declined and are selling at $1.75 on very fine stock. Only 35 sacks were reported in yesterday morning, but a large number were diverted.

This was particularly true of potatoes, about ten cars having been shipped through Los Angeles by local dealers who kept them moving to points of destination. Only 540 sacks were reported in and the market is holding steady. Sweet potato receipts, for which the local market depends almost entirely at this time on Merced and other northern points, are very heavy and 450 sacks were reported in.

The egg market here stayed at 36 cents on case count and in the north advanced to 39 1/2.

WAR BETWEEN ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE AND CENSOR OF MOVIES

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 10.—Because the Ohio State Board of Moving Picture Censors eliminated from the film "Ten Nights in a Barroom" drinking and murder scenes, it has called down upon itself the wrath of Ohio's anti-saloon league.

The anti-saloon league is now in the thick of strenuous battle to make all Ohio dry. The voters are to ballot on the prohibition amendment at the general elections early in November and the league had planned to use the film as one of their main arguments in gaining votes. Now according to dry workers the censors have spoiled it all.

"All the punches have been taken out of the film," said Wayne B. Wheeler, state superintendent of the anti-saloon league. "A saloon scene which teaches that drunkenness brings crime, disorder and inefficiency has a good result. We feel that the film should be shown as the book was written." Meanwhile the censors stand pat on the ruling that saloon scenes are naughty, and can not creep into any films shown in the state.

Their Trip Back East

By William F. Menton, Past Exalted Ruler of the Elks Lodge, Santa Ana

While I am full of the wonders and beauties of it, it is rather with fear and trembling that I approach the task of describing a trip such as I have recently enjoyed, for it is worthy of a better description than my weak pen can afford. To attempt to do justice to a tour covering twenty-nine states of the Union and touching the Dominion of Canada, traveling upon the waters of three of the Great Lakes, the St. Lawrence, Hudson and Potomac rivers, Chesapeake Bay and Long Island Sound, and the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, might tax the descriptive powers of a more capable writer than myself. So I shall take refuge behind the magnitude of it—and let it go at that.

I am fully conscious of the fact that many of your readers have enjoyed this or a similar tour, and to these I extend congratulations and crave their indulgence. But with the many who have not been so fortunate I would share the pleasures of this trip.

To enter into a description of splendid cities, beautiful streets, avenues and parks, would be a waste of time, and I will spare your readers the horrors of such detail—few of the great cities are alike, differing slightly perhaps in the mannerisms of their people, according to sectional customs. Chicago is St. Louis on a larger scale, and New York is Chicago or Philadelphia magnified. Each has some distinctive features, but when all is said they are just—cities. The things which I enjoyed most, and by which I was most impressed, were the wonders of nature we beheld and those points of historic interest around which cluster the memories of a glorious past. But of that later.

To commence at the beginning. The tour was begun auspiciously by accompanying the Southern California delegation, by special train, to the Elks' Grand Lodge convention at Denver, a delightful excursion in itself. Leaving Denver, the party consisted of Messrs. Clyde Bishop, W. F. Diers and myself.

But before going further let us linger a while beside that grandest work of nature—the Grand Canyon of Arizona. This masterpiece of nature's handiwork was to me the most impressive sight of all. Standing up on the brink of this yawning chasm, gazing into its fathomless depths and across its limitless space, you are stunned by the very magnitude of it. Instinctively you shudder and would draw away, but it grips you—holds you spell-bound, while an irresistible force impels you to draw nearer and gaze longer into its depths. Every angle from which you view it reveals new beauties in color, new wonders of formation, until your senses are enthralled, and it is with a misty-eyed, sense of loss, that you turn your gaze from the striking panorama of beauty and grandeur spread out at your feet.

On to Niagara
Passing over the events connected with an unusually enjoyable and successful convention of the grand lodge, and the trip through the great middle west, uneventful save for the pleasant visits with relatives and friends in Iowa and in Chicago—that great metropolis of the Great Lakes region, now grown to a city of two and a half millions—our tour of the East began. After a brief visit in Detroit we took passage on the steamer City of Detroit III, for Buffalo; thence to Niagara Falls, where a day and a half was spent viewing the wonders and charms of that beauty-spot. Here again language fails me, and it seems almost a sacrifice for me, in my weak way, to attempt a word-picture of the grandeur of this great work of nature. It must be seen to be appreciated. I recalled vividly the terse remark of the Irishman, when his friend was expatiating on the beauty and wonders of the Falls. The friend said:

"Isn't it wonderful, isn't it grand? To see that great volume of water, aglow with all the colors of the rainbow, roaring and tumbling over that mighty precipice, disappearing in the mist constantly floating from its turbulent crest and plunging into the apparently calm, smooth depths below, to come to lie again in the seething, leaping rapids beyond!"

As though deeply impressed, the Irishman paused for a moment before replying, and then said:

"Well, what's to stop it?"
And that's the real beauty of Niagara Falls—its marvelous force and power, which, through the countless ages of the past, has been creating new wonders, as directed by its own capricious will. On the American side particularly the place has been shorn of some of its beauty and might by the relentless spirit of commercialism, but the Canadian government is wisely preserving its side as far as possible in its natural state and enhancing its beauty by means of parks and drives. However, still enough of the glory of Niagara remains to make it the Mecca of thousands upon thousands of pleasure-seekers and lovers of the beautiful in nature.

Leaving Niagara we crossed Lake Ontario to Toronto, that rapidly growing, modern city of the Dominion, with a population of more than half a million. A brief stop here and the trip was continued by boat to Kingston, thence down the St. Lawrence past the Thousand Islands and over the rapids to Montreal, the metropolis of Canada. Here we had our first glimpse of the preparations for war, for the call had been made for Canadian troops and they were already mobilizing in Montreal and other Canadian cities. An over-night stay in Montreal, and we began the journey to Albany. Passing the final inspection at the international border we returned to Uncle Sam's domain, glad to be once more under the sheltering folds of Old Glory. A delightful day's trip through the Lake Champlain country, in view of the Adirondack mountains, brought us to Albany, where we were met by Chas. L. Davis of Santa Ana, who was spending the summer at the home of his mother at Shushan, N. Y. Mr. Davis then became a part of the party and made the trip with us down the picturesque Hudson, on the steamer Washington Irving, a day boat having the largest carrying capacity of any boat afloat, being licensed to carry six thousand persons. That evening we landed in New York City.

Seeing New York
New York City! That great, pitiful wilderness of humanity, rolling in wealth and groveling in poverty; where revels never cease and toiling never ends; where virtue struggles and vices thrive; where thousands are born, live their allotted span, and die, knowing nothing of nature and little of nature's God; never dreaming that beyond the Hudson lies a great world where love and beauty, peace and happiness abound; their playground the stony street; their horizon the East River and the Jersey shore, the Battery and the Bronx. Nowhere on earth perhaps will you find such a striking example of self-centered complaisance and blissful ignorance as you encounter in this great metropolis of the western hemisphere.

But New York has its points of interest, and its beauty-spots too: its Central Park and Riverside Drive; the tomb of Grant and the Hall of Fame; the Soldiers and Sailors monument and the monument to the victims of the Maine; its great institutions of learning and beautiful houses of worship; its library and museum; Battery Park and the aquarium; the Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island; Blackwell's Island and Hell Gate; Chinatown and the Bowery; its massive stores and towering skyscrapers; its great shipping docks and harbor; and then—the "Great White Way," with its never-ending procession of broad-winners by day and pleasure-seekers by night, surging to and fro; from cafe to theater; from theater to roof-garden and cabaret. Great indeed is New York City!

Historic Boston
And then to Boston, by steamer to Providence and thence by rail. Proud old Boston! Rich in historic interest, and institutions of learning; set in the most beautiful of surroundings, she has a right to boast. Here we went back to the days of the Revolution, when the struggle for freedom and release from the yoke of the mother country was begun by the American colonies. Here we met U. Holmes Bishop (brother of Clyde Bishop), formerly of Santa Ana, but now instructor of music in the University of Montana, who, with his wife, was spending the summer at the home of the latter's family in a suburb of Boston, and through the courtesy of this good family we were enabled to see Boston and its environs thoroughly.

First we visited the Wayside Inn, made famous by Longfellow's "Tales of a Wayside Inn." This interesting old place is preserved as nearly in its original state as is possible. Much of the furniture used in the Revolutionary period still remains in a remarkable state of preservation, even to the old bar where refreshments were served to patrons of this ancient hostelry. The room where Washington and Lafayette dined together, with its quaint old fixtures and service; the room where the "Tales" were told—all these are preserved and are accessible to the public.

Where History Was Made
Cambridge, Concord and Lexington! Standing upon the ground hallowed by the blood of heroes who died for freedom's cause our hearts swelled with pride and patriotism in contemplation of that glorious past. The old bridge across the stream where the first battle of the Revolutionary War occurred. On one side is a monument to the Americans and on the other side a tablet in memory of the British soldiers who fell in that first engagement. We traversed a portion of the road over which Paul Revere made his midnight ride, stopped at the house where he awakened John Hancock and Samuel Adams from their slumbers; saw the homes of Longfellow and Hawthorne, and the "Old Manse," and later visited the tomb of Longfellow in Mount Auburn cemetery; the old North Church where the lantern was hung, Bunker Hill monument and Charleston navy yard, where we went aboard the old frigate Constitution, now maintained as a museum. It would take volumes to tell you all we saw and what we felt as we moved among those scenes recalling so vividly the early history-making period of our country.

As a city Boston differs little from other great cities. It is proud of its institutions of learning, its library, museum, churches, and its culture and refinement. All these are invaluable assets; but as a modern city Boston does not impress you—perhaps because of the very fact that it lives so much in the traditions of the past.

Days of Pleasure
From Boston we returned to Albany, and thence to Shushan, N. Y., where a couple of delightful days were spent at the home of Mr. Davis' mother. A trip by auto to Bennington, Vermont, where another battleground of the Revolution is marked by a monument to the valor of the "Green Mountain Boys." A hundred-mile drive through the Green Mountain country, fishing, boating and bathing in the beautiful lakes of that region filled the time while here, and we returned to New York City. A couple of days more in the metropolis, and then to the City of Brotherly Love. From here a side trip was made to Atlantic City, that great playground of the East, whither the heat drives the throngs from the great sweltering cities to revel in the cooling breezes of the Atlantic ocean. Here we mingled with the madding crowds for a brief day, and returned to Philadelphia. Like Boston, the Quaker City holds much of historic interest. Here were enacted scenes of our early history as thrilling, perhaps, though not as sanguinary as those of Concord and Lexington and Bunker Hill. Liberty Hall, Carpenter's Hall and the home of Betsy Ross, whose hands fashioned the first American flag, from which has descended our national emblem in its present form. The events transpiring in these ancient buildings are too well known to students of history to require chronicling here. An interesting old city is Philadelphia.

At the Capital
Our next stop was Washington, and here we found ourselves in a new environment. Washington is unlike most other large cities—it is built more for comfort than for speed. Then, too, its historic interest partakes more of the modern, for we were now in the theater of another great conflict of arms—the struggle for the preservation of the Union consecrated by the heroic deeds the scenes of which we had so recently visited. For just across the Potomac lies the South. On an eminence overlooking the river and in view of the city stands the home of Robert E. Lee, whose magnificent estate is now the site of Arlington National Cemetery, that silent city of the heroic dead where the graves of the unknown mingle with those marked by stately marble shafts; while a short distance up the Potomac lies the memorable field of Gettysburg.

But let us see Washington. There are many things of interest in the capital—interesting from many standpoints. For not only do you see massive and beautiful buildings, but you come in close touch with the machinery of government—you see "how they do it." The capitol itself, with the halls of Congress, where statesmen and near-statesmen sit in solemn conclave, deliberating, harranguing, insuring, standpatting—and whatever else is necessary or expedient; the House and Senate office buildings, on either side of the capitol; the Congressional library, the government printing office, the bureau of engraving, the treasury building, the state, war and navy building, the White House, Washington Monument, the navy yard, the Pan-American Union, Rock Creek Park, where stands the old home of Joaquin Miller, the Poet of the Sierras. All these we were privileged to see advantageously through the courtesy of Congressman Kettner, who placed his secretary at our disposal, besides devoting considerable time to us himself, we being his dinner guests one evening at Congress Hall Hotel, where the Congressman and his charming wife reside.

One of the principal attractions of Washington we were unable to see, through no fault of the Congressman, of course, but either the fault of our schedule or that of the American League. I refer to Walter Johnson.

On the Potomac
Reluctantly leaving so interesting a place as Washington, we took passage on the steamer Newport News for a cruise down the Potomac and Chesapeake. This was one of the most interesting water trips of the entire tour. First, the ancient city of Alexandria Va., said to be the only completed city in America, where nothing new is ever built, and nothing changed unless destroyed by the elements; next Mount Vernon, the tomb of Washington; then old Fort Washington, and many other interesting points along the river and bay, arriving, just in the edge of the evening, at Fort Monroe; past Old Point Comfort, through Hampton Roads, with Newport News in the distance, and landing at Norfolk at about 8 o'clock in the evening.

Our stay at Norfolk was brief, and we bid farewell to the Atlantic coast and began our journey inland; first to Richmond, then to Atlanta, with short stops in each place, and then to Birmingham, Alabama, where a stay of three days was made for a delightful visit with friends. Birmingham is a city of the new South, and its people are justly proud of its remarkable growth and development. It is a striking example of the opportunities and possibilities of the South when at last it shall have overcome the pride of antebellum days, and the sectional bitterness engendered by the Civil War.

Homeward Bound
Our next port of call was New Orleans, that proud old metropolis of the South—proud of its history, proud of its ancestry and proud of its achievements; with its open hearts, its open graves, its open sewers, and its open vices—the "last of its race" in that respect. Clinging fondly to the traditions of the past, New Orleans is quaintly picturesque, weirdly beautiful—and uninviting within.

The remainder of the trip was uneventful and I will spare the reader further details. A jump from New Orleans to St. Louis, another to Denver, through the Royal Gorge and across the Rockies to the Mormon capital; thence to San Francisco, and finally, completing the tour by steamer from San Francisco to San Pedro. Thus came to an end a tour covering nearly ten thousand miles, occupying fifty-two days time, extending from ocean to ocean, from the St. Lawrence to the Gulf of Mexico; a trip rich in historic interest and scenic wonders, and replete with pleasures unalloyed.

WAR IS BOOMING HOME CHEMICAL PRODUCTION

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—The European war has afforded an opportunity for the development of domestic mining properties, according to Chicago chemists, who today are busy trying to find supplies of certain chemicals for large manufacturers. Potash salts and tungsten oxide, used in the manufacture of steel, can be mined in America but the supply has been coming from Europe. With the European supply cut off, Chicago chemists say potash salts can be found in abundance in the Great Basin, and tungsten oxide in Pennsylvania and Colorado, in sufficient quantities to meet the demand.

CALIFORNIANS WILL OPPOSE ADDED WINE TAX

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The California Congressional delegation at a meeting yesterday decided to oppose on the floor of the house the 20 cents per gallon tax which the Democratic members of the ways and means committee have decided shall be levied on wines in the war deficit bill.

It is not believed the California Congressmen's fight will be successful, even for a reduction of 10 cents per gallon, the committee having definitely decided that the tax shall be 20 cents.
